BCPassport was founded in 2001 when I devoted myself to promoting Vancouver by starting and growing the BCPassport web site into what we hope is the best Vancouver information and booking site. Our goal is to make you love the city and the surrounding area, and we'll do pretty much whatever it takes to make your Vancouver visit wonderful. We want to provide travel experiences that combine quality and value and capture the essence of Vancouver, Victoria, British Columbia and the Canadian Rockies. We believe these are healthy, happy, revitalizing places, and we want to share their beauty and benefits with the world.

This paper was started by Conrad Black to provide an opposition voice to The Globe and Mail which he considered too left leaning. However, Black sold the National Post and all his other Canadian newspapers so he could move to England and become a Lord. Since his departure, the newspaper has improved.

This book explores the links between the city's natural setting, political history, planning and design culture and the forces that are reshaping Vancouver's urban environment. Dream City offers insight into how buildings, public spaces, extraordinary landscapes and civic values have merged to form a uniquely 21st-century city.

Douglas Coupland's Souvenir of Canada and Souvenir of Canada 2 are useful books and a quick reads if you want to get a feel for the country. Canada is much more different from the US than many people recognize, primarily because many of the differences are hard to pick up if you're not paying close attention.

Coupland, famous for coining the term "Generation X"; in his 1991 novel of the same name, writes about young North Americans trying to cope with the world of technology, change and corporate greediness. Perhaps his most famous book, Microserfs, written in 1995, about Microsoft employees and their desperate search for life inside an all-consuming corporation, provides a now strangely dated glimpse of the technology world on its way up.

This excellent book has suggestions about things to do on the North Shore and Bowen Island and then farther afield. If you like to hike, you can really get a feel for the magic of this area by visiting Lynn Headwaters in North Vancouver or taking the Brothers Creek Trail into the mountains. You'll find spectacular scenery, deep canyons and a kind of peace you only find in nature.

Phone Cards: If you want Phone Cards, you can purchase them at local convenience stores. Most stores carry several, but the best for calls to the US and Canada are "Gold"; or &#8216;Any Time&#8217;. Neither has a connection fee or any hidden charges, and both have very reasonable rates, about 6 cents a minute. For other destinations, ask the merchant which card is best for your desired destination. Get the one with no connection fee unless you&#8217;re planning to make calls lasting more than 30 minutes.

In one email dated Christmas Eve 2010, she wrote: 'I did not believe that at 43 I can cry more for a man like a teenager.' She added: 'Have you such a heart to leave me here alone, [thinking] of you, without enjoying your gifts... your small gestures or gifts, which once was very powerful, without your words every day?'

'Commander of U.S. troops in the first Gulf War and Secretary of State from 2001 to 2005, General Colin Powell is one of the most avid observers of global developments and also an old and good friend of Romania,' she wrote, according to an English translation of her blog, which was written in Romanian. 'I had, along with colleagues from Socialist MEP delegation, a very interesting discussion, focusing particularly on transatlantic cooperation in the current geopolitical framework.'
